Dear parents and carers

We continue to operate in extremely fast changing times and with the government's announcement last night, we find ourselves in another national lockdown. This presents complex challenges for us as a school and I wanted to outline our provision available for remote learning for those of you who will need it.

As outlined yesterday, our blog is back up and running and is now separated to primary and secondary. We will also start delivering our learning packs to those who requested them. Apologies we have not delivered them today as we had hoped but we are confident we can start deliveries tomorrow. Individual class teachers will be in touch to discuss the offer to your son or daughter's class and this will include some face to face with the teacher so they can continue to feel they are in touch with the school. We will be offering choir as we did previously and are currently working on some additional lessons to log into which will be of your choice.

For those of you who have a son or daughter eligible for free school meals, we will be sending supermarket vouchers again as we have in the past. Further details will follow.

I will endeavour to keep you informed of any changes and we remain committed to offering the very best education we can in these circumstances.

Please do contact me if you have further questions.

With all good wishes
